“Toto, I’ve a feeling we’re not in Kansas anymore.”

This classic Oz line might sum up the reaction of parents when they begin helping their teens apply to universities —it’s quite a different ballgame than it once was.

HPAC has invited Options Solutions’ president Melinda Giampietro to share her extensive knowledge of the university admissions process in Canada. Melinda’s presentation will give parents a clear picture of today’s admissions process and how teens’ personal decisions can maximize their success.

Through discourse, an interactive admissions simulation, and discussion, parents will learn about the admissions process and requirements—including the roles of extra-curricular activities and admissions averages, the importance of course planning and value setting, and how to select a faculty/major—and about some admissions myths.
