B. Artificial Intelligence in Education: What Kind of Education for What Kind of World?

Artificial intelligence is already reshaping how we live, learn, and connect and schools are at the heart of that transformation. As we navigate this rapidly evolving landscape, we must ask: How do we ensure technology strengthens learning and well-being rather than detracting from it?

Please join us for an evening of real-world case studies and community conversation exploring the role of AI, digital distraction, and critical thinking in today's classrooms. Together, we'll examine:

- how schools are guiding students to build healthy, ethical relationships with modern technology;
- the role of families, educators, and policy in supporting student well-being and intellectual development, and,
- how the North Vancouver School District is responding through personal digital device guidelines and instructional supports.

This meeting will provide space for reflection, dialogue, and shared responsibility as we shape the future of education in a digital world.

C. Closing: Trustee Tumaneng

8:30 pm
