The Digital Age: The influence of new technologies on education

North Vancouver
School District
the natural place to learn®

What does it mean for our kids? For education? For our professions? For us personally?
What does it mean for the North Vancouver School District?

The North Vancouver School District is mindful of the influence of technology on the academic, human, social, and career development of our students. We invite our community to explore and discuss the influence of technology, given the pervasive nature of technology in our lives.
