Book Fair update

I'd like to extend my most sincere thanks to the parent volunteers for your help during my first Scholastic Book Fair. Having an extra adult (or adults) around to train and oversee the students and help visitors was so appreciated and I couldn't have done it without you! It was wonderful to see so many happy families, as well as watch the student volunteers have an opportunity to put their math skills to work as some of them ran the cashier station. I'm happy to report that we were able to earn over $3000 for our library which translates to over 300 new books!

Honouring Remembrance Day and Indigenous Veterans Day at Cove Cliff

This past week, Cove Cliff came together to honour both Remembrance Day and Indigenous Veterans Day through meaningful classroom activities and a schoolwide assembly. Students engaged in discussions, art projects, and writing reflections to deepen their understanding of the sacrifices made by veterans and the importance of peace.

Our assembly was a powerful moment of community, with many classes contributing poems, songs, and presentations. We were honoured to welcome Lieutenant Sussman and her son, Cadet Oliver, as special guests. They shared personal stories of service and resilience, helping our students connect history to real-life experiences.

Through these activities, Cove Cliff reaffirmed its commitment to remembering those who served and recognizing the contributions of Indigenous veterans, fostering respect and gratitude across our school community.
