

Welcome

to the Cloverley Open House for the North Vancouver School District Land Management Process

TODAY WE WANT MORE INPUT FROM YOU ON DRAFT IDEAS ABOUT THE FUTURE OF THE CLOVERLEY SITE!

What is this project about?

The North Vancouver School District (NVSD) is undertaking a land management process for its land assets to maximize the full potential related to the future of its surplus properties to reinvest in future school construction projects.

This land management process has involved extensive engagement with the community, dating back to 2003. Building on previous work and engagement activities, a process is underway to identify potential future uses, specifically for the Cloverley School Site.

What's happening today?

Ideas for the future of the Cloverley site were developed based on the North Vancouver School District's Guiding Principles (see Panel #8), which includes community input, financial return, and more.

Today we want to get your input on all of these ideas, so that we can refine them and create recommendations for consideration by the North Vancouver School Board. Please post your comments on the panels in the spaces provided. If you see a comment with which you agree, please paste a blue dot on it. ●

Today the consultant team would like to hear your thoughts.
