School Outreach Teams – Host District - Expression of Interest (EOI)

March 10, 2023

As part of new government investments to assist children and youth with support needs, the Ministry of Education and Child Care is collaborating with the Ministry of Children and Family Development to launch new provincial school outreach teams. These teams of specialists, which may include physical and occupational therapists, speech language pathologists, learning support teacher consultants and school psychologists, will help to build the capacity of school districts across the province (especially rural and remote districts) to address the specific needs of the students with disabilities and diverse abilities. The outreach teams will provide in-person and virtual support to school districts across the province, including case consultations, professional development sessions, and linking district staff to regional and provincial resources and services.

School districts that would like to be considered to host the new school outreach teams, for a 3-year commitment beginning in the 2023/24 school year, should submit an Expression of Interest (EOI)

NVSD's Proposal

- Foundationally built on "nothing about us without us"
- Supports intentionally focused on "all learners"
- Awareness of, and sensitivity to, the problematic history of Indigenous students and "special education"

- Improving equity of services available in rural and remote regions of the province through outreach teams (in-person and virtual)
- Capacity building and enhancing systems of support through senior leadership network
