Additionally, Arad Ahangi and Taha Ghasemi earned the outstanding wrestler award. Let us applaud their accomplishments and continue to support them as they fight for spots for the Provincials at the end of the week.

Good morning, Carson, we've got some exciting announcements today to brighten your Monday morning. First off, there are only five more Mondays till spring break. It's Superbowl weekend; who ya got, Chiefs or 49ers, and, most importantly, another round of athletes of the week? This week, we highlight two exceptional athletes from Carson's Senior Boys' Basketball team, Kyle De Leon and Brendan Forrester. Kyle's coaches say he has been a silent but mighty asset to this year's senior squad. He is one of the best shooters on the team and has been a super committed player for the last five years. He is loved by all; never will you see him complain, and he wears his heart on his sleeve. Up next is Brendan, who is being recognized for his versatility as a dynamic player who brings a lot of tenacity to the team. He is always willing to share his opinion on just about everything. He is smart, putting in the time and work to be an all-around player. Watch these two and the rest of the team Thursday night at 7:30 for their last home game.
