Course Synopsis

This course is designed to support senior students, and is open to grades 11 and 12, in developing leadership skills related to the design and implementation of a project or initiative within the Sutherland Family of Schools. Admission into this course is determined through a project application process that requires prospective students to outline in advance their intentions for meeting course requirements through the design and implementation of a leadership-related initiative. Although the course structure supports a wide range of initiatives including, but not limited to, athletics, social justice, teaching/learning, outdoor education and performance arts, student projects are expected to meaningfully contribute to ongoing efforts within the Sutherland Family of Schools to promote a 'sense of belonging' within its student population.   BAA Leadership 11 is taught by school administration in coordination with a team of instructor / coordinators. Each approved project is attached to an instructor / coordinator for teaching and assessment purposes. Course instructional time will mostly involve regular meetings with the instructor / coordinator, and time devoted to the design and implementation of the proposed leadership initiative. However, students will be asked to attend a minimum number of classes with the larger group that will be scheduled outside of the timetable. Students in BAA Leadership 11 will also be asked to identify a mentor who will serve as an advisor to their project's design and implementation. This may be a Sutherland teacher, a teacher or administrator from one of our feeder schools, a parent or other community member. Students who wish to work on a project with one or more other students are required to submit an individual application outlining how their contribution to the project will meet course requirements. Project applications for the 2013/2014 academic year are due by April 30, 2014.
